

Family Book Making

Materials

- Several blank sheets of paper
- Writing utensils (pen/pencil; crayons/markers/colored pencils)

Activity Steps

1. After reading a book it's always fun to do other activities in order to keep thinking and talking about it.
2. Using several blank sheets of paper, stack the sheets together. Fold the stack of paper in half like a book. Staple the "spine" of the book. With your child, write and draw your very own book! You can use a favorite book as inspiration or create your own.
3. Encourage your child to talk about the experience while they create the book. Invite your child to read the book to other members of the family.
